

Egyptian Cartoon II.

- 1. The situation in this cartoon is the rebellions that have been going on in Egypt against their leader Mubarak.
- 2. The man in the cartoon is the President of Egypt Mubarak.
- 3. The statue in the cartoon represents one of the famous landmarks in Egypt the Sphinx.
- 4. The cartoonist is showing the Sphinx, the people of Egypt, is about to pounce on the leader of Egypt if he refuses to step down as their leader.
- 5. The man, Mubarak, is using the latest technology, twitter, which represents that the uprising in Egypt was, in part, caused by the amount of young people who were using twitter to get the word out to each other about the daily uprising that were occurring in Egypt.
- 6. I believe the cartoonist is portraying the use of technology was instrumental in causing Mubarak to be forced to step down.
