Web quest

Title:_____Grade_____

1. Description: Write a short paragraph here to introduce the Web quest to your students. If the quest is a role or scenario involved, such as "Your are a sailor," then here is where you'll set the stage for your students.

2. Task: Describe clearly what the end result of the students' activities will be. The task could be a series of questions that must be answered, a summary, or a problem to be solved. This where you require the students to process and convert the information they gather.

3. Resources: Use this space to direct students to the Web sites or other resources in the classroom that will be available for them to use to accomplish the task. When listing Websites, be sure to write a description of each site and the complete URL.

4. Process: What steps should the students take to complete their task? Where do they search first? List the process here.

5. Learning Advice: Here you can provide some guidance on how to organize the information gathered. This advice could include simple reports, summary tables, concept maps, or to create Web pages out of the information with links to the original sources. The advice could also be a checklist of questions to analyze information or things to think about.

6. Conclusion: Write a small summary of what the students will have achieved or learned by completing this Web quest.
